

Drapery Cleaning

The careful and successful cleaning of draperies is an area in which we have considerable experience. Some drapery conditions require specialized treatment and handling.

Upon examination of your draperies, we can advise you about any conditions that may affect the successful cleaning of these items.

It's important to have draperies cleaned on a regular basis. Air pollution – especially acids in the air – can damage the fabric if not removed on a regular basis.